Do You Really Need a Program to Keep Track of Licensing?

In the security industry, licensing is a crucial aspect of employment. Forty-four (44) states and the District of Columbia mandate a license for installing, maintaining, supporting, or monitoring security systems. Failure to renew the license can result in hefty fines, business shutdowns, or even imprisonment. Additionally, the security industry ranks among the most heavily regulated, with the 12th most burdensome licensing requirements and the 17th most regulated occupation.

Technicians face an average of 535 days of training, licensing fees, and regular exams to become licensed. These stringent requirements underscore the importance of licensing in ensuring the competence and professionalism of security personnel.

Obsequio streamlines the licensing renewal process, alleviating the burden for security professionals. Its user-friendly platform simplifies the renewal procedure, ensuring compliance and uninterrupted service.
